

Quick Tips

An agenda is a tool which guides the conversation of a meeting. A typical agenda might include the following:

- Call to order
- Roll Call
- Reading and approval of minutes from last meeting
- Treasurer's report
- Old Business
- Committee and Officer reports
- New Business
- Announcements
- Adjournment

Leader Hints:

are available on the following topics

- Agendas
- Advising Groups
- Budgeting
- Co-Sponsorship
- Community Service
- Conflict Resolution
- Constitution and Bylaws
- Delegation
- Difficult Members
- Elections
- Event and Program Planning
- Fundraising
- Goal Setting
- Group Performance Evaluation
- Icebreakers
- Individual Evaluation
- Meetings and Minutes
- Motivation
- Newsletters
- Officer Transition
- Parliamentary Procedure
- Publicizing Events
- Recruiting New Members
- Retreats
- Starting a New Organization
- Stress Management
- Team Building
- Time Management

Leader Hints is a publication of the University of New Mexico Student Activities Center. Copies are available at the Student Activities Center, SUB Room 1018. For more information, call 277-4706.

Some of the information in this brochure was compiled from leadership materials from the University of Texas at San Antonio and the University of Kansas.

Leader Hints

Leadership Development Tips
for Student Organizations

Agendas

Agendas

An agenda is an important tool for the leader who wants to make effective use of meeting time. It is usually in outline form and guides the conversation of the meeting. Agendas can also be used to assist in long-range planning and help in record-keeping. Important points to remember in developing agendas are:

1. Allow all members the opportunity to submit items of discussion for the agenda. You may want to develop a weekly/monthly report for officers and committee chairs which would contain an area for them to list agenda items. Other members could verbally or in writing (in a suggestion box) give their agenda items.

2. Develop an agenda that fits your organization's needs and your leadership style. Not all organizations need the formality of a roll call or approval of last meeting's minutes.

3. Distribute the agenda (paper or via email) a few days before the meeting to allow members to prepare for the items of discussion.

4. During the meeting, record all items or concerns that need to go into future agendas. It's important that these tabled and new items appear on a subsequent agenda.

5. Allow for flexibility in the agenda. If a discussion goes longer than anticipated or an important issue comes up the night before the meeting, feel free to add or table items on the agenda.

6. When writing or typing agendas, leave space for members to make notes. This will be helpful when discussing controversial issues, planning an activity or referring to the action taken.

Here is a sample agenda:

I. Call To Order

Opening of the meeting by President, officer or leader.

II. Roll Call

Attendance of all members taken by secretary.

III. Reading and Approval of the Minutes from the last meeting

Minutes read; members point out changes and vote to accept them.

IV. Treasurer's Report

Expenses and account balance.

V. Old Business

Discussion of items previously brought up but tabled.

VI. Committee and Officer Reports

Time given to each committee and/or officer to discuss their activities. Also, adviser's may give a report here.

VII. New Business

Discussion of items not previously brought up. If agenda is sent out a few days early, it's a good idea to leave some blank space to add items that need immediate attention.

VIII. Announcements

Items that need no discussion, but that members need to know (i.e. dates of events, deadlines, etc.).

IX. Adjournment

End of the meeting
Remember agendas are meant to offer

